

MARKANT PRODUCT STEWARDSHIP POLICY

Markant Australia's Product Stewardship Program exists to manage the impacts of products throughout their lifecycle.

When a client no longer has a use for a Markant workstation product, Markant will work with the client to resell the product through a second hand dealer, donate the product to a community based organisation or disassemble and recycle the product through nominated recyclers.

The MARKANT PRODUCT STEWARDSHIP PROGRAM generally includes the following conditions:

- Products will need to be transported to the nominated recyclers, auction houses or community based organisation at the cost of the purchaser.
- The program is only available to the original purchaser. It is not transferable.
- Where any person other than an authorised Markant representative has performed disassembly, reconfiguration, maintenance or repair work, the Product Stewardship agreement is deemed null and void.
- The purchaser shall bear the full cost of any activity associated with deinstallation, collection and removal of the products.
- Markant will accept products that are at the end of their service life or no more than 12 years after the date of purchase.
